

PROJECT FUNDING 2020

on the subject

Vision into the future!

Eugène Atget, Pendant l'éclipse, 1912

The first annual call for applications for project funding addresses projects that focus on the audio-visual perspective of human and social (living) world.

We live in ambivalent times. Political tensions, climate crisis, war and migration foster social divisions and fear among the population. Actions on climate change and against populist movements still face the widespread illusion of being unaffected. It is more necessary than ever to abandon and restructure old modes of thought and behaviour. We support projects that convey new visions of the future and participation in world affairs. What remains, what becomes important?
